

Kathy Schrock is presently the Administrator for Technology of the Nauset Public Schools in Orleans, Massachusetts. Her job includes maintenance of all the technology and networking for seven schools, technology curriculum infusion planning, and teacher training and professional development in technology.

She is well-known in the education field as the creator of Kathy Schrock's Guide for Educators (<http://discoveryschool.com/schrockguide>), a Web site started in June of 1995 to help fellow educators identify curriculum-related Web resources to enhance their units of study.

Kathy partnered with Discovery Channel School in early 1999 to provide a well-rounded and robust site. She is the author of numerous articles and reviews in such publications as Creative Classroom, Classroom Connect, Multimedia Schools, Technology Pathfinder for Teachers and Administrators, and Technology Connection and the author of six technology-integration books for educators.

Extremely interested in information literacy, search strategies, copyright issues, the role of handheld computers in the classroom, and Web site evaluation, Kathy received her BS in elementary/special education from Rutgers College in 1979 and her MLS from Rutgers Graduate School of Library and Information Studies in 1981. Kathy also currently serves on the ISTE Board of Directors.
