

Niuean Sea Snake (Laticauda schistorhyncha)

Habitat: Though it lays its eggs on land, the Niuean snake spends most of its time in the tropical waters surrounding the Pacific island of Niue, the only place in the world where this snake is found.

Size: Adult sea snakes grow to be about 3 to 4 feet long.

Prey: Sea snakes are air breathers, so they often swim in shallow waters where they feed on fish, fish eggs and eels.

Did You Know? The Niuean snake's venom is more toxic than the King Cobra, and a single bite could kill a full-grown adult.

MUTUAL of OMAHA'S
WILD KINGDOM
PREMIERING JULY 16
ON ANIMAL PLANET

Discovery
EDUCATION

Niuean Sea Snake (Laticauda schistorhyncha)

Habitat: Though it lays its eggs on land, the Niuean snake spends most of its time in the tropical waters surrounding the Pacific island of Niue, the only place in the world where this snake is found.

Size: Adult sea snakes grow to be about 3 to 4 feet long.

Prey: Sea snakes are air breathers, so they often swim in shallow waters where they feed on fish, fish eggs and eels.

Did You Know? The Niuean snake's venom is more toxic than the King Cobra, and a single bite could kill a full-grown adult.

MUTUAL of OMAHA'S
WILD KINGDOM
PREMIERING JULY 16
ON ANIMAL PLANET

Discovery
EDUCATION

Niuean Sea Snake (Laticauda schistorhyncha)

Habitat: Though it lays its eggs on land, the Niuean snake spends most of its time in the tropical waters surrounding the Pacific island of Niue, the only place in the world where this snake is found.

Size: Adult sea snakes grow to be about 3 to 4 feet long.

Prey: Sea snakes are air breathers, so they often swim in shallow waters where they feed on fish, fish eggs and eels.

Did You Know? The Niuean snake's venom is more toxic than the King Cobra, and a single bite could kill a full-grown adult.

MUTUAL of OMAHA'S
WILD KINGDOM
PREMIERING JULY 16
ON ANIMAL PLANET

Discovery
EDUCATION

Niuean Sea Snake (Laticauda schistorhyncha)

Habitat: Though it lays its eggs on land, the Niuean snake spends most of its time in the tropical waters surrounding the Pacific island of Niue, the only place in the world where this snake is found.

Size: Adult sea snakes grow to be about 3 to 4 feet long.

Prey: Sea snakes are air breathers, so they often swim in shallow waters where they feed on fish, fish eggs and eels.

Did You Know? The Niuean snake's venom is more toxic than the King Cobra, and a single bite could kill a full-grown adult.

MUTUAL of OMAHA'S
WILD KINGDOM
PREMIERING JULY 16
ON ANIMAL PLANET

Discovery
EDUCATION

Niuean Sea Snake (Laticauda schistorhyncha)

Habitat: Though it lays its eggs on land, the Niuean snake spends most of its time in the tropical waters surrounding the Pacific island of Niue, the only place in the world where this snake is found.

Size: Adult sea snakes grow to be about 3 to 4 feet long.

Prey: Sea snakes are air breathers, so they often swim in shallow waters where they feed on fish, fish eggs and eels.

Did You Know? The Niuean snake's venom is more toxic than the King Cobra, and a single bite could kill a full-grown adult.

MUTUAL of OMAHA'S
WILD KINGDOM
PREMIERING JULY 16
ON ANIMAL PLANET

Discovery
EDUCATION

Niuean Sea Snake (Laticauda schistorhyncha)

Habitat: Though it lays its eggs on land, the Niuean snake spends most of its time in the tropical waters surrounding the Pacific island of Niue, the only place in the world where this snake is found.

Size: Adult sea snakes grow to be about 3 to 4 feet long.

Prey: Sea snakes are air breathers, so they often swim in shallow waters where they feed on fish, fish eggs and eels.

Did You Know? The Niuean snake's venom is more toxic than the King Cobra, and a single bite could kill a full-grown adult.

MUTUAL of OMAHA'S
WILD KINGDOM
PREMIERING JULY 16
ON ANIMAL PLANET

Discovery
EDUCATION

Niuean Sea Snake (Laticauda schistorhyncha)

Habitat: Though it lays its eggs on land, the Niuean snake spends most of its time in the tropical waters surrounding the Pacific island of Niue, the only place in the world where this snake is found.

Size: Adult sea snakes grow to be about 3 to 4 feet long.

Prey: Sea snakes are air breathers, so they often swim in shallow waters where they feed on fish, fish eggs and eels.

Did You Know? The Niuean snake's venom is more toxic than the King Cobra, and a single bite could kill a full-grown adult.

MUTUAL of OMAHA'S
WILD KINGDOM
PREMIERING JULY 16
ON ANIMAL PLANET

Discovery
EDUCATION

Niuean Sea Snake (Laticauda schistorhyncha)

Habitat: Though it lays its eggs on land, the Niuean snake spends most of its time in the tropical waters surrounding the Pacific island of Niue, the only place in the world where this snake is found.

Size: Adult sea snakes grow to be about 3 to 4 feet long.

Prey: Sea snakes are air breathers, so they often swim in shallow waters where they feed on fish, fish eggs and eels.

Did You Know? The Niuean snake's venom is more toxic than the King Cobra, and a single bite could kill a full-grown adult.

MUTUAL of OMAHA'S
WILD KINGDOM
PREMIERING JULY 16
ON ANIMAL PLANET

Discovery
EDUCATION